PEACE, JUSTICE AND STRONG INSTITUTIONS POLICY

FMIPH takes into consideration the Sustainable Development Goals accepted by the United Nations in all its fields of activity and gathered under 17 main headings. Green Campus aims to be a strong institution by observing the principles of peace and justice in its relations with FMIPH students, employees and stakeholders, while social responsibility projects, energy and resource management, studies in the field of health are important in terms of being a sustainable university.

Our University's "Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions Policy" in line with this goal includes the main elements listed below.

- To update the training content for the prevention of violence, to organize various activities to inform the employees and the society, to present the information obtained in these processes for the benefit of the society,
- To support the activities organized in national and international platforms for the development of the rule of law,
- To continue to apply the legal regulations and public ethical principles for an effective, accountable and transparent FMIPH at all levels,
- Establishing and supporting sensitive, inclusive, participatory and representative decision-making mechanisms at FMIPH University, where all stakeholders, especially students, administrative and academic staff, can freely express their ideas and opinions and offer suggestions,

- As FMIPH, to carry out academic, scientific and social studies with global governance boards, support academic studies and projects carried out in the context of ensuring public access to information and protecting fundamental freedoms in accordance with national legislation and international agreements
